

The story of Paul Bunyan

In Maine, a baby was born who was named Paul Bunyan. He was really big.

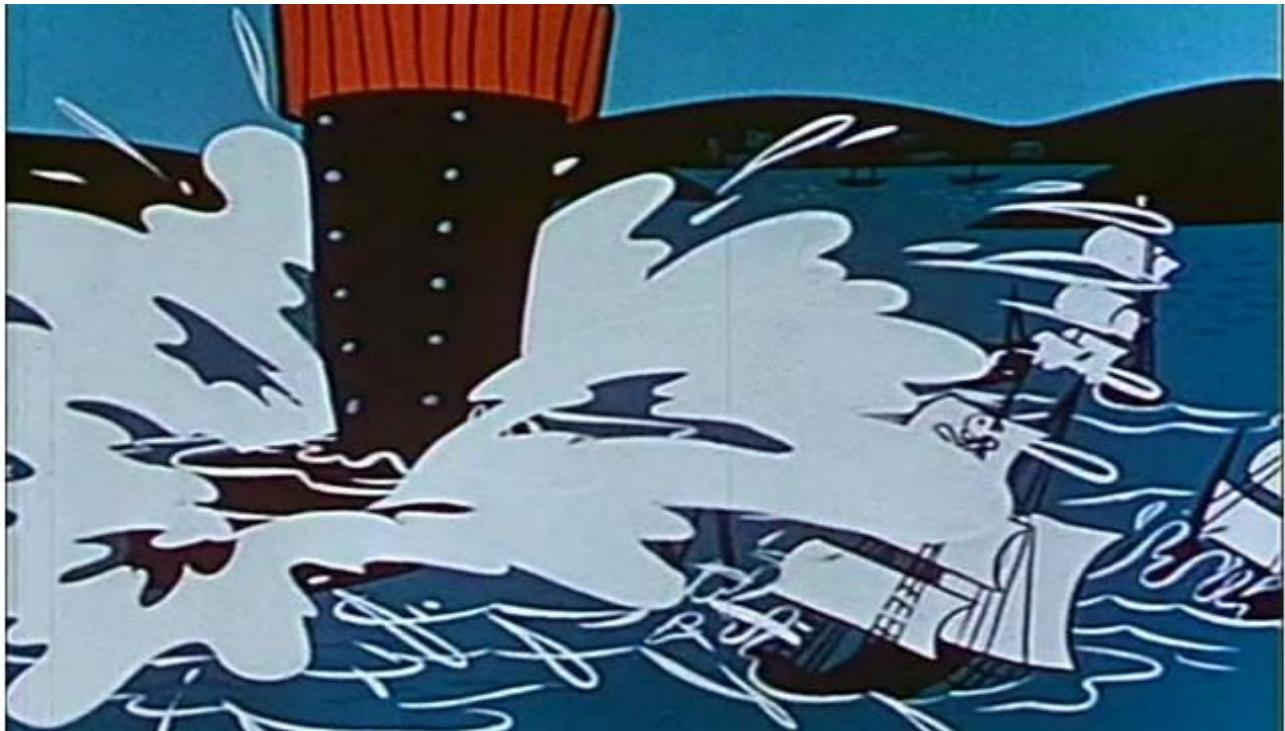

Paul grew very smart and strong.

He became a lumberjack and could chop down a tree with one swing of his axe.

In the Revolutionary War he batted away British canon balls with a tree trunk.

He stepped in the ocean and made a wave that sunk the pirate ships.

He moved mountains

He dug a trench

And the trench became a river for boats to travel

He had a pet blue ox named Babe. That ox was very big like Paul Bunyan

Paul loved children and built the Big Rock Candy Mountain for them.

It was like Disneyworld but full of sweet things to eat like chocolate fountains, jelly bean trees, and hills of ice cream.
